

A whole notch "up and to the left" from the Shred. Cowan graces his presence in the form of his signature grips. We suggest that you hold on tight (how's that for legalese?) Are we now covered?

Our "getting in on the ground level" dirt jumping bike, that shares the exact same frame as the Scrap. Plenty of Earth shattering capabilities for young, bug-eyed pilots.

John Cowan is our Grand Poobah of the dirt-jumping underbelly. Without his riding skills, and ultimately, design input, we would have to Duct tape Dewey to his bike, and throw Dew through the air. Somehow we feel the end result just wouldn't be the same. Look for Cowan's design expertise at Whistler's Kona Jump Farm and in this bike.

This year's Stuff was the same frame as our Cowan bike, but doesn't have John's name across the top tube. Although that would be a deal breaker for most, we thought we would give you the opportunity to change your name to Johnny Stuff and have your own professional model.
